Stakeholders Support ARPA Premium Tax Credit Extension

The American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) provided expanded and enhanced tax credits for marketplace consumers, making health insurance more affordable and accessible than ever before. Since ARPA’s passage in 2021, premium costs have decreased for consumers across the income spectrum, allowing over 3.1 million new enrollees to enroll in marketplace coverage.

Without Congressional action to extend ARPA’s tax credit enhancements, millions of Americans will experience significant premium increases for plan year 2023 — limiting coverage options and exacerbating the economic impact of rising consumer costs. The following letters, written by a diverse group of stakeholders, express support for the American Rescue Plan enhanced premium tax credits.

- Families USA and Health Coalition Groups, May 17, 2022.
- National Association of Insurance Commissioners, April 18, 2022.
