for STATE HEALTH POLICY

The Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP) was created in 1997 to provide quality health coverage for children in families that earn too much to qualify for Medicaid but are unable to afford coverage in the private market. The Children's Health Insurance Program Reauthorization Act (CHIPRA) of 2009 strengthened the program through increased federal funding, new enrollment and outreach opportunities, and other provisions. In addition, the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (ACA) extended CHIP funding through federal fiscal year (FY) 2015 and required states to maintain eligibility levels through 2019. The ACA also required states to use the Modified Adjusted Gross Income methodology, which seeks to standardize the calculation of income across insurance affordability programs, including Medicaid, CHIP and the exchanges. States can continue to move forward in covering eligible children by taking advantage of the policies put in place by CHIPRA and the ACA. This fact sheet provides an overview of Massachusetts' CHIP program.¹

Name of State's CHIP Program: MassHealth operates in combination with the Medicaid program.

Number of Children Covered: In 2011, 110,102 children were covered by MassHealth.²

Participation Rate: 96% of eligible children in Massachusetts participated in MassHealth in 2009. The national average was nearly 85% in 2009.³

Federal CHIP Match Rate: 65% in FY 2012.⁴

Efforts to Simplify Enrollment and Renewals: To reduce barriers to enrollment and renewal in CHIP, states have the option to implement a range of strategies to streamline these processes. The table below describes some of these strategies, specifically those that are considered for CHIPRA performance bonuses. States that have implemented some of the strategies in their Medicaid and/or CHIP programs may qualify for a CHIPRA performance bonus.

Efforts for Simplifying Enrollment and Renewal in CHIP in Massachusetts (as of Dec. 31, 2011)

No
Continuous eligibility for 12 months	The state allows children to retain coverage for 12 months, regardless of whether their family income changes during that time period.	No
